Happy Friday First and Second Grade
Parents:

The students have worked hard this week trying to catch up from last week's half days and snow days. We are so proud of your students. Since we lost a few teaching days this week we have decided to save last week's Bible verse and lesson for next week. So your child's verse has not changed from last week's newsletter. We have started our third quarter of school and will be getting grades out by next Friday. Please look for them included with your newsletters in your child's homework folder next Friday. We also want to remind parents that our Spirit Week starts next Monday. We have included a flyer so you can plan ahead for your child's dress each day. If we have 100% participation in our first and second grade class all week long we will earn a pizza party! So let's do our best to show some school spirit next week!

REMINDERS

As we work our way into the second semester, our classroom could use some new colored pencils for our community bins and hand wipes for our classroom. Thanks so much for your continued support throughout our school year! We appreciate you! Have a wonderful weekend.
